

Title: Trump's Necessary Impeachment

Specific Purpose: To inform the public that the 45th president of the United States is unfit to serve his position on the grounds of mental instability, inappropriate conduct and racial prejudice.

Thesis Statement: In all of the years that I have studied American history, I have never encountered such a volatile and incompetent president as Donald Trump.

Introduction

Attention Material: Given the controversial nature of this situation, I would like to address it in the most civil way possible. It seems to have become unpolitical to be political. We are being taught that it is rude and disrespectful to speak out about corrupt actions committed by politicians. I say no more to this and I would like to single out the sitting President of the United States, Donald John Trump. Over the last several months, it has been increasingly clear that Mr. Trump had meddled with the American Election system, displayed symptoms of being mentally unstable and has shown disdain towards individuals of a variety of colors. This type of American is not the model that we should set for future generations. I urge you to see past the veil of promises and charisma that the Trump Administration has tried to portray.

Preview: In the next few minutes, I will outline and dissect behaviors and comments made by Donald Trump to convince you to take action against this travesty. This is not a healthy environment to be apart of and needs to be quickly and effectively addressed.

TRANSITION?

Body (1)

- I. On several accounts, President Trump has been indecisive on how he feels about a current political situation. One very recent example is when he said that "...missiles would fired to Syria..." but did not run it by the White House or allied nations. The White House had to then issue a statement "explaining that a final decision has not yet been made...".
  - This is a serious issue that needs time and decisive action with counsel on all sides. Twitter is a place for funny cat memes and technology news, not a national platform to threaten a bombing siege against an enemy nation. Military action takes months of preparation, cross-examination and foresight. This is one area that Trump has shown that he is unable to be an effective Commander in Chief, one of the roles of being the President of the United States of America.
<Only do this section if you need to fib for more time, it does not fit in well>
  - Another incident is when Trump ranted about "millions of people who voted illegally" in the 2016 President Election, which has no validity. He had just won the election, why is there a need to rub it in the other parties faces, with false information on top of it? When Trump's first press secretary was later asked about it, Spacey commented that "it's a belief that he [President Trump] maintains". How is that factually based and where are you getting this notion Mr. Trump? To vote in this country, you must prove that you live here. You would then be in a database, exposed to the entire nation's immigration services. It would be unwise for an illegal immigrant to participate in such an act that might result in deportation.

Body (2)

- I. Secondly, President Trump has repeatedly acted with inappropriate conduct towards female constituents and foreign diplomats. This can be seen in the recent scandal involving Stormy Daniels where his lawyer Micheal Cohen allegedly paid to her a sum of “$130,000 one month before the 2016 in exchange for her silence” as reported by Molly Roberts from the Washington Post.

- Supporters of Trump will call this an ad hominem attack intended to discredit his integrity . I, however, see this as a troubling action taken and question Trump’s method of “getting things done”. He does not accept the consequences for his actions. Being honest and transparent is a crucial part of being a world leader. Trying to make problems disappear with money is unacceptable behavior and it should be alarming to all.
- Another incident was when Mr. Trump placed the greater Los Angeles area in jeopardy when he and the leader of North Korea had a nuclear standoff. During this tense conversation, Trump called Kim a “little rocket man” and Kim responded with calling him a “dotard”. Trump later “boast[ed] of having a bigger nuclear button than...North Korea” from USA Today, reported by Jane Onyanga-Omara . This is a subject matter that yet again, you do not take to Twitter. This is a matter that is discussed with people acting like an adult. To address the argument that he “tells it how it is”, that is simply an appeal to ignorance. There’s a spectrum of being honest in which you can be timid or devoid for anyone’s well being. Politics is about making deals with the devil, not attempting a crucifixion. This is another position in which Mr. Trump fails to express competence, the Chief Diplomat of the United States of America.

Body (3)

- I. Lastly, behavior exhibited by Donald John Trump towards minorities of this country has been truly disturbing. During the white nationalist rallies throughout the country, one particular incident got out of hand. This was the rally in Charlottesville that resulted in the tragic death of three individuals, most notably the death of Heather Heyer, age 32. This was a tragic event and Trump once again impulsively opened his mouth. Initially, he attempted to console the nation with saying “Condolences to the family of the young woman killed today....So sad!”. Once more details started to arise, Trump was allegedly “...opposed to bigotry in all forms”, as reported by Eli Watkins from CNN .
  - All seems to going well in Trump’s camp when something unexpected happened. Just two days after issuing the above statement, Trump states that “You had people that were very fine people on both sides” covered by Ben Jacobs from The Guardian. What does that even mean? Does that mean you retract your statement of condemning white nationalists, absolving them of all wrong doing or do you feel that the Liberals had some blame?
- II. To bring one last incident to the table, heed I remind you that his motto during the campaign was he was “going to build a wall and make Mexico pay for it”? How is that not a racist remark? It would be different if he also wanted Canada to do the same as he would be addresses both neighboring countries but that unfortunately was not the case. Donald Trump has repeatedly blasted Mexico, claiming that they are “bringing crime, rapists” when “allowing” their citizens to cross into America. The reason why they flee is in fear of gangs such as MS-13 and corruption in the Mexican government. In 1987, Gabriel Zaid’s book bluntly stated that “Corruption is not a disagreeable characteristic of the Mexican political system: it is the system”.
  - That is an absolutely chilling remark. Mexico’s government, police and military corruption leaves many of their most needy citizens migrating by the truckload to get over here. Trump, most of these people that you claim as rapists are law abiding citizens who just want the best for their family. Yes, the occasional bad apple seeps through the cracks but that is a small price to pay when it means that several million families live in peace. Racism is something that ignorant and narrow minded folk believe. It has no merit or scientific proof and that is why Donald John Trump does not represent our moral values. Yet again, Trump has failed another role of the President, the Chief Citizen.

Conclusion

As Shakespeare once said, "Friends, Romans, countrymen, lend me your ears", I also urge you to find Donald John Trump to be unfit to lead the great country of the United States of America. The immediate course of action is to strip him of all legal power with influence to the American legal system, foreign or domestic. Mr. Trump is not a model citizen who should represent the values of my party or the American people. I am a Republican for the immediate impeachment of Donald Trump.
